

COMEBACK KITCHEN TABLE

Comeback, Kitchen Table!

Once the centerpiece of family gatherings, the kitchen table is becoming obsolete in our culture. Rather than coming together for meaningful conversations or home-cooked meals, people eat fast food or isolate themselves with technology.

The "ARTventures: Comeback Kitchen Table" public art project brings to downtown Nashua 10 kitchen table environments that respond to cultural, ecological, and health issues. Come to the Nashua Public Library May 6 for the unveiling of one such table, "Bookish Banquet," built by the Gate City Charter School of the Arts.

In addition, we invite you to enter our photo essay contest by April 5 about the meaning of the kitchen table in your life. Entries will be curated for display in the Image Gallery and winners will be announced at the art opening on May 6, 12–2pm.

Contest Details

A successful photo essay will include a photograph of your family at the kitchen table and an original, unaided, and not previously published short essay or poem (500 words max.) that explores the meaning of your kitchen table.

Eligibility:

Open to residents of Greater Nashua.
One entry per person.

Digital Image Requirements:

Email high quality JPG as a file attachment.

Rules:

Work will be judged and curated for a show in the NPL Image Gallery. Accepted art will be on display May 6–June 26, 2017.

One winner per age group (Under 15, 16–20, 21+) will be announced at the art opening on May 6 at 2 pm for a $25 reward.
